ALWAYS THE BEST OF EVERYTHING FOR THE LEAST

"The Busy Corner."

We've Started Cloak Selling That Totally Extinguishes Rivalry.

We've wielded the knife with disastrous effect upon prices throughout the stock. In fact, for the entire past week we've made a record go of it. The stock demands pruning now. For natural healthfulness such a course is demanded. Even the farmer in the field cuts off possibly the best part of the plant, but it comes out later better than ever. The same applies to our cloak stock. It's still in a healthy condition, displaying the finest line the city can show. We have to move the goods when the demand is greatest. Here's a harvest of savings:

demand is greatest. Here's a harvest of savings:

We've taken a good-sized lot of our $7.50, 88.48, and 80.00 Jackets, in black, castor, tan, navy and brown. They are finely lined throughout with silk or satio, and to think that you $4.08 lot for.

Duchesse Silk Prices That Are Extremely Light on the Purse.

The clearance sale of silks is immensely aided by a powerful bargain attraction-a fresh purchase of Black Satin Duchesse. The two ought to draw some furious selling this week. We couldn't have turned our backs on such a purchase, and we'd wait months and go a long ways out of our way to land another of its equal. The lot is divided into four strong bargains:

Affishik Duchesse, 19 inches wide very fine texture about 15 pieces of this lot. We couldn't equal them again under 68c.

LOVELY BRIDE AND GALLANT GROOM

Miss Cecelia Miles Becomes Mrs Samuel Reber.

THE BACHELORS' BALL

Miss Cecelia Sherman Miles and Capt. Samuel Reber, U. S. A., were married at noon today at St. John's Church, Rev. Alexander Mackay-Smith, D.D., officiating, assisted by Rev. Dean Davis of St. Louis. guests were present, followed at the resi-dence of Gen. and Mrs. Miles, after which Capt. and Mrs. Reber left for a southern Island, where the former is stationed.

This marriage, to which fashionable Washington has looked forward since the announcement last autumn, as the first im-portant nuptial event of 1900, quite realized all the anticipations formed of its bril-liancy. St. John's Church was far from being large enough to accommodate the guests comfortably, although most of those in attendance endeavored to feel satisfied in even getting over the threshold. The wedding attracted not only official, diplomatic and resident friends of the Miles family, but also kinstolk and celebrities from several other cities. The ushers had no sinecure in giving seats to an assemblage of which everybody was distinguished, or thought so—a problem much harder to face. The bride and groom being second cousins, the interest in the event among the various ramifications of the Miles, Sherman, Hoyt, Reber and other familles connected by marriage brought together a large representation of relatives.

The floral decoration of the chancel was not elaborate, as the space was needed. The Christmas wreaths and garlands are still in place, and tall clumps of palms and rubber trees were arranged at each side of the gate. On the chirch. CircatShoe

Her bouquet was of lilies of the valley and orchids.

The dress of the maid of honor was of chantilly lace over white silk, and rosettes of white liberty velvet trimmed the bodice. A round tokue of mousseline de sole, witha high rosette of the velvet, was worn, and a large bouquet of white roses carried. The bridemaids' dresses were of the same lace, similarly made, only the velvet rosettes were in pale blue, as was the high trimming of the white toques. They also carried pink roses, tied with long blue streamers.

ming of the white toques. They also carried pink roses, tled with long blue stream ers.

Mrs. Miles wore cream lace over white sik with touches of turquoise velvet and edges of dark fur in the trimming. A jetted tuile bonnet was worn.

Gen. Miles and all the military men of the bridal party, as well as all the army officers present, were in full uniform. The guests began to arrive at 11 o'clock, and at half-past that hour there was scarcely standing room. Mrs. Miles and her son, Mr. Sherman Miles, had to struggle as well as the coor, which blocked both alsies.

Former Secretary of War and Mrs. Daniel S. Lamont sat near the Miles family, and in the pews reserved for the diplomatic corps there were present Lord and Lady Pauncefote, the German ambassador, the Mexican ambassador and Mrs. Azpiroz, the Russian ambassador and Miss Cassini, Mr. and Mrs. de Wollant and the Belgian min-

Mrs. Samuel Reber of St. Louis, mother of the groom, was present.

Several hundred guests attended the wedding breakfast at Gen. and Mrs. Miles house on N street. Here the out-of-town guests and many intimate friends who were not able to get into the church enjoyed the sight of the bride and groom and a view of their splendid gifts.

The presents of great value and beauty have been received by the hundreds and the collection took a large room for their display.

the collection took a large room for their display.

Capt, and Mrs. Reber left this afternoon for their wedding trip, the bridal party staying to see them off and to give them a liberal pelting of rice and old slippers.

The bride of today enjoys a wide popularity in Washington. Her early life was spent with her parents at frontier posts, but her education was received at an eastern boarding school. She is both handsome and accomplished, and good wishes at a wedding were never more heartily bestowed. Captain Reber is one of the most promising young officers in the army. He was born in Missouri, and is thurty-five years old. He was graduated from West Polnt in '86 and was appointed a second lieutenant of the 4th Cavalry, and in 1892 first lieutenant in the 9th Cavalry. Entering the signal officer of volunteers in May, 1898, and later was appointed lieutenant colonel.
